

Auto Flowering Seeds

When compared to the classic indica and sativa cannabis, which require a decrease of sunlight hours per day to bloom, the auto-flowering seeds begin to bloom automatically. Auto-flowering seeds with the heritage of Cannabis ruderalis just begin to bloom when they attain a particular age.

Most auto-flowering marijuana seeds begin to bloom around the third week. Though such seeds have been available in the market for quite a long time now, their popularity has increased only in the recent few years.
