

Cannabis seeds for temperate climate

The easiest method of cultivating cannabis is through outdoor cultivation, as most of the work will be done by nature itself and you can grow cannabis plants in impressive sizes if you wish to. But, the type of cannabis strains that can successfully grow in outdoors greatly depends upon the climate.

For instance, cannabis strain like Amnesia Lemon cannot be grown in Mediterranean climate, and such Cannabis seeds are ideal for temperate to cool climate. Most cannabis strains in this category are characterized by short to medium flowering period with resistance to pests and moulds with very little effort.

One cannot say whether indoor cultivation is better or outdoor, but letting a plant grow organically in the natural environment comes with its own set of advantages.

The option of growing marijuana outdoors is undoubtedly cheaper and requires very little maintenance comparatively. If you want to buy marijuana seeds for a cold and damp type of climate then these options will certainly give you the best yield.

Cannabis seeds for temperate climate