

Thermometer for earth, rock wool and liquid

Essential equipment in any growing situation, infact we at tyhe Kiwiland suggest one in every corner of your room for ultimate knowledge of climatic conditions. Hang the meter just above the lamp and to the side (on the wall) or you can hang it in the shade amongst the plants. Don't take a reading in the direct light, just as we don't for the weather outside.

The meter keeps a minimum and maximum temperature and reads relative humidity. It come complete with batteries.
