

Canna - Rotterdam Special

A direct availability and a correct composition of nutrients play a crucial role during the plant's blooming phase. HYDRO Flores stimulates the fructification and contains all the nutrients that the plant needs during this phase.

During the blooming phase considerable less nitrogen is needed for example, but an increased need for potassium and phosphor occurs. In addition, HYDRO Flores' unique formula is rich in chelated trace elements in a directly absorbable form. This results in an exuberant bloom.
