Since the beginning of the 21st century research into CBD and THC for medicinal use. The results are very positive.

Since the legalization of cannabis in the United States has intensified its research and is increasingly clear there about the operation and potential of CBD and THC. Since THC in the Netherlands is not legal, we limit ourselves to the sale of CBD products without THC.

It is possible to extract CBD by blending with a natural oil, e.g. hemp oil CBD to administer orally. It is also possible to blend it with petroleum jelly or ointment udder and it may then be used as a cream. CBD (oil) has no side effects and does not cause psychoactive effects.

Currently we are mainly doing research in the United States on the effects of CBD on the human body.
